FALL 2010

THE LABORATORY

The newly built laboratory and all the sports attire is greatly impacting our lives as pupils of J.O. Chifundo High School. The new additions help us develop our skills in the field of science and sports. Now we are able to practice what we've theoretically learned. As a pupil it is really helping me to understand certain issues in biology and science as a whole. With the laboratory in the school, now I am sure I am going to write my practicals with great confidence knowing that I will pass. I am so thankful that I will have the lab experience before I graduate from JOC.

We are very grateful and thankful to everyone who contributed to the construction of the laboratory both financially and spiritually. May our good God richly repay you.

GOVERNMENT CERTIFICATION RECEIVED!!

The Eagles are landing in Kalingalinga, Zambia ..... for a great start to Fall term, 2010. It is first time to have a school mascot at JOC.

It was a privilege to be with staff/some students in August (school was on break ) as we opened up the 15 trunks of supplies brought by the mission team. Included were books for the library, lab equipment, donated graduation caps and gowns and athletic uniforms. The microscopes bring vision of new life to each student. These scholars yearn for the opportunity to learn and earn a high school diploma. Kalingalinga is changing with each new graduate. With basic classes and now a "state of the art" lab many new opportunities open for these emerging young people .The nearly completed lab at JOC was the talk of the Kalingalinga compound. The students who were prepping for exams were buzzing with excitement and alumnae of the school were arriving to see the new structure. Parents came by in awe as they participated in the first PTA meeting. Our new Administrative Assistant, Geoffrey Sizala, is a graduate of JOC and The University of Zambia.

Thank you sponsors. I wish each of you could experience the joy of these young men and women. Your support IS changing lives, those dreaming of becoming doctors, teachers, pastors, nurses and lawyers.

With complete uniforms for soccer, netball and volleyball, our athletic program will now be exceptional giving students another reason to excel to be able to participate.

My heart was warmed and tears brushed aside as I met a physically handicapped young lady, who without the help of scholarship, could not attend school. Out of school for 4 years, now at JOC she is academically at the top of the class.

Your support is changing lives! Please help give more students in Kalingalinga the opportunity for an education with your generous contribution. We're growing and I believe new building additions are in God's plan for changing these lives.

URGENT NEED: Funding for the newly completed lab exceeded our budget. To continue God's work and finish the rest of the project we are asking you to pray about partnering with us financially, prayerfully, and/or on an as needed basis. A contribution form is in this newsletter for you to fill out and return to Globe Outreach. Or, you can donate online at globeoutreach.com (JO Chifundo School). Our projected goal at this time is to raise $ toward purchase of land for much needed classroom space.

PLEASE THINK OF US WHEN YOU MAKE OUT YOUR CHRISTMAS LIST.....JOC STUDENTS

Dear Sponsors,

I wish to communicate and thank you for the science lab filled with modern equipment and for the attire for sports programs for JOC. It is interesting to note that, though the laboratory is owned by Chifundo, the services and benefits shall ultimately overflow to the wider community. That is a mile stone in developing, sustaining and maintaining the pupils morale to learn and perform well academically.

Generally, in Zambia it has been noted that the number of females student who are studying medicine is low. This is simply because the foundation in the area of science in high school is more theoretical. Hence, pupils seem to be having problems country wide. Therefore, me being a girl child, I am very much happy that I have this opportunity to use the lab before I write my exams. It has really motivated and encouraged me a lot. Thanks to JOC for exposing us to the laboratory at a tender age as this well seriously help us to cultivate the interest in becoming doctors so that we can save lives of our people. With these few remarks, allow me to say thank you and may God bless you.
